NOMINATE JEFF HI BOARD TRUSTEE DISTRICT OFFICER

Skit Shows Relative Values Of Library To Advancement Of The Home

The Home Service Department of the Seventeenth District, under the direction of Mrs. W. G. Fuhr, sixth vice president, placed itself on record last week as having an important and definite part in the Parent-Teacher movement. The meeting at the Burlingame High School Auditorium held many interesting surprises throughout the day for an appreciative audience.

Small attractive booklets were handed each member on entering the auditorium. These contained the favorite recipe of each past resident and were given as favors from the department. John Coad and Jack Gibsen both of local schools were commended for the fine printing job for which they were responsible.

"Attune Your Home To Reading," a play written by Mrs. J. F. Coad in which the activities of the department were referred to by the actors while seeking information at a library and availing themselves of the opportunities for obtaining valuable material either from books, book lists, magazines or newspapers which the librarian so graciously assisted them in finding, proved enlightening to many. It showed the relative value of libraries to the advancement of the home.

A display of quilts made by Mrs. Lela Campbell of Daly City included numerous patterns such as the flower garden, nine patch, feather star, Jacob's ladder, triple Irish chain,

ACCOMPLISHED FOR PTA TERM

At the annual meeting of the Jefferson Union High School P. T. A., the following members were elected to serve for the new term: Mrs. Susie Sanders, president; T. Hollingsworth, vice president; Prof. James Ferguson, honorary vice president; Mrs. Stella Jensen, recording secretary; M. Linden, financial secretary; L. Nelson, treasurer; G. Hill, corresponing secretary; L. Thomey, historian; M. Riando, auditor; M. Crane, parliamentarian.

The reports of the high school chairman indicate the unit can expect to win another award this year for following all rules as given by the state association to receive a standard rating.

The executive board received 100 per cent in magazine subscriptions to the California Congress Magazine.

The consumer education classes completed a printed program of the year's work, made at the beginning of the term.

The Student Aid Fund is carefully budgeted.

Life membership was purchased for Mrs. F. Bentley, past president.

There has been a large attendance at all district meetings, and night meetings held for the benefit of the fathers. An outstanding Founders Day program was given. The speakers at both meetings talked on interesting subjects.

At all executive board meetings there was 100 per cent attendance. Publicity record books were made to be sent to the district and the increase of membership over last year was noted. To raise the balance of the funds for the year's work, a dessert luncheon and whist will be held in the home of the president, Mrs. Stella Jensen, Wednesday, April 6, 1:30 p.m. You are asked to come and bring your friends.

From the Jefferson Union High School P. T. A. the following were elected to represent the unit at the district convention, April 20-21, in the Baywood Theater, San Mateo: Mrs. Eva Page, Marge Woodside, Susie Sanders, T. Hollingsworth, M. Conserva and the president, Mrs. Stella Jensen.

A LUCKY BREAK

When Merle Todd fell between two moving freight cars at Cadillac, Mich., his body broke the air hose connection and the cars came to a stop before their wheels touched his body. He suffered only slight bruises.

Massive San Francisco Dam Overflows After Long Rains

Overflowing for the first time since 1911, Crystal Springs Dam, near San Francisco, is pictured after long winter rains swelled the impounded Crystal Lake. Built in the nineties, the dam has been full to capacity only twice. Behind the concrete wall 31 billion gallons of drinking water await usage by thirsty San Franciscans. Photo shows how the dam was turned into waterfall by the overflow.

DALY CITY MAY BE IN LINE FOR SAFETY CITATION

With a 90 per cent decrease in its accident rate for 1937 over the previous year, Culver City, center of Southern California's motion picture industry, today loomed as the probable winner of the California Safety Council prize for top place in cities under 10,000 population, it has been announced.

Lodi, Visalia, and Pittsburg, however, were reported by the Safety Council to be crowding Culver City for first honors in accident reduction, based on incomplete returns now being checked.

In the next classification of cities, those from 10,000 up to 25,000 population, Santa Rosa, Anaheim, Salinas, and Daly City were running neck and neck for safety citation. Although its accident rate was higher, Daly City was regarded as possessing unusual hazards because of a traffic bottleneck.

Employes Of Track Attending School

Thirty youths between the ages of 16 and 18 years at Bay Meadows race track are enrolled as members of the new school being held at the track under the jurisdiction of Superintendent Homer Martin of the San Mateo Union High School District.

Every day during the current Bay Meadows racing season and during the spring meeting at Tanforan, the boys must attend classes under Edward Duffy of the San Francisco School Department, who will give individual attention to his students.

Included among the new students are jockeys and exercise boys.

KIN OF SCREEN STAR SUCCUMBS FROM INJURIES

San Mateo County Coroner To Investigate Circumstances Of Cause Of Death

Albert Frank Carrillo, 83, uncle of Leo Carrillo, film actor, and member of the prominent early California family of Carrillo, died, Saturday of last week, at Villa Hospital in Daly City. It was announced by Coroner William Crosby that he would make an investigation.

The coroner's office intends to investigate just how Carrillo, direct descendant of one of California's first governors, was injured in an accident on January 22.

Apparently the aged man was struck by a hit-run driver at the corner of Polk and Jackson streets in San Francisco on that date, suffering a broken leg and back. He was taken to the San Francisco Hospital and removed to Villa Hospital on February 22. Still recuperating from his injuries, Carrillo contracted pneumonia and died last Saturday.

The remains were shipped to Santa Rosa for interment.

Drum Corps Wins Cup At Parade

El Camilo Parlor No. 181, N. D. G. W. won the cup donated by Judge Van Nostrand for being the best trained and uniformed Ladies Drum Corp in the St. Patrick Parade, held Sunday, March 20, in San Francisco. The native daughters are proud of this trophy, as they have been organized only five months and this parade marks their first competitive appearance.

After the regular meeting, March 16, the birthdays of Sisters Peterson, Schade and Schilling were celebrated by the playing of games followed by refreshments served at a table decorated in green and white, with a large birthday cake for a centerpiece all in honor of the three members, whose natal day corresponded with that of the Irish Patron Saint.

HEIRESS TO WED HARRY RICHMAN

Hazel Forbes, toothpaste heiress and former showgirl, who recently showed a large sapphire in Palm Springs, Cal., as proof that she is engaged to Harry Richman, night club singer and aviator. Richman recently flew the Atlantic in his famous "pingpong ball" plane.

ACTRESS LOSES DEATH RACE

Miriam Hopkins

Miriam Hopkins, noted screen actress, who recently lost a race with death when she hurried to the bedside of her former husband, Austin Parker, 46, playwright, who was fatally stricken. Parker, who recently returned to California after a successful sojourn in New York, died before Miss Hopkins arrived at his home.

BE ON LOOKOUT FOR CHILDREN

The touch of spring in the air that starts the grass and flowers growing brings with it a new danger for motorists—children playing in the streets or near the curb. The lives of more than 4100 children below the age of 15 years were cut off with abrupt cruelty in the United States during 1937—each in a single moment of someone's carlessness.

This is the time of year, the National Safety Council warns, when these accidents begin to happen most frequently. Your children should be reminded to play away from the street, to cross at the corner, and then only after looking carefully both ways.

But it is your responsibility as a driver to expect the unexpected from children. If a ball rolls into the street, look out for a child behind it.—San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

SAFETY COUNCIL OF COUNTY SETS UP AN AUXILIARY

To Be Composed Of Five Committees Led By Prominent Men In Each Field

Organization of a Traffic Safety Council Citizens Auxiliary was completed, Friday evening of last week, at a meeting of the San Mateo County Traffic Safety Commission.

The council, comprising 36 members in addition to the seven members of the commission, was divided into five committees.

The commission also discussed final plans for a comprehensive traffic accident survey WPA project and voiced approval of the City of San Mateo's death patrol in the dangerous El Camino Real zone near Bay Meadows race-track.

Each of the Traffic Safety Council committees is led by a member of the commission. Dr. Arthur Nobbs, commission chairman, and John L. Hardiman, vice chairman, are to be ex-officio members of all committees, it was explained.

The committees are as follows: Accident Facts, Engineering, Traffic Regulations, Law Enforcement and Education.

Two Daly City educators, Clive Saiz of the faculty of the Jefferson Union High School and R. L. Crane, superintendent of the Jefferson School District, were placed on the last named committee.

EFFICIENCY MAN ABOUT THROUGH AT COUNTY SEAT

A. C. Fensel, Los Angeles efficiency expert, is back in Redwood City to finish his economic survey for San Mateo County.

Fensel is expected to wind up his work here about April 1, according to County Executive Rolison. The survey, which has cost nearly $5000, and its offspring, the Service Division have been the targets of severe criticism from county officials. The budget director's post, which it was rumored might be assumed by Fensel after the survey, was abolished last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

San Mateo Jaysee Mothers Club Meet

The regular monthly meeting of San Mateo Jaysee Mothers Club will be held, Thursday, March 24, at 2:30 p. m., in Julia Beylard House, next door to the Junior College on Baldwin avenue.

The program will be presented by the Public Speaking Department, under the direction of Ada Beveridge.

All interested patrons of the Junior College are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. A. M. Jeppeson is president.

SPECIAL VOTE IS NOT WISHED NOW SAYS ATTORNEY

Redwood City Lawyer Asserts Neither He Nor Clients Will Try To Force Election At This Time

At Redwood City, Wednesday of this week, Attorney Joseph Bullock went on record that a special election to fill six County offices made elective by amendments approved by the electors last summer and ratified by the recent special session of the Legislature would be universally unpopular at this time.

At the regular meeting of March 18 the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution in which it announced its intention of refusing to call the special election on the eve of the August primary. That was what he wanted all the time, according to a statement by the attorney for the proponents of the amendments.

While Bullock maintained that the board could be forced to call the election, and that the board, despite its action, actually wished to call the election and place the blame on Bullock, the attorney made this statement:

"I never intended to be a party to the calling of a special election,

ALCAZAR STAGE NOW SETTING FOR BIZARRE PLAY

Newspaper Woman Pokes Fun At Politicians In Very Funny Production

A brilliant newspaper writer takes a jab at windbag politicians and in doing it provokes a whirlwind of mirth and merriment in the current attraction, "Me Third," which opened at the Alcazar Theater Monday night. "Me Third" was written by Mary Coyle Chase, a Denver newspaper woman, and was produced by Brock Pemberton in New York. The San Francisco production is under the banner of the Federal Theater.

"Me Third" produces the type of fun that brings a spontaneous guffaw in its broader analysis and has throughout a subtle and constantly amusing quality that is the aim of every playwright. Richard Allan, who plays the part of Harlan Hazlett, family head and candidate for county attorney, an egotistical puff of hot air, is outstanding. The same may be said for Geraldine Allan as Mrs. Hazlett, Edna Ellsmere and Ruth Saville as Hazlett's mother and sister; Grace Cooper, the Hazlett housemaid who was formerly a lady of the evening and about whom much of the plot center. Others in the cast are Solly Carter, J. Raymond Northcutt, Robert Clarke, young Kenneth Keeney, Jack Vallee, Rupert Drumm, Daniel Pennell, Maurice Hugo, Ben Legere, Walter Farnsworth, Frank Bolger, Dorothy White, Marta Golden and Frank Lyons.

"Me Third" is just such a play as might be expected from a keen witted newspaper person who knows the way around and manages to maintain a freshness of viewpoint that refuses to be dulled by routine. It is chock full of bizarre situations, laughable incidents and rates a good run, though it is announced it will remain for only two weeks.

Four Bound Over To Superior Court

Prima Maffei and Max Galluzzi, arrested by state liquor officers in raids on asserted illicit distilleries in Lawndale March 10, have been held to answer to superior court by Justice of the Peace W. H. Clay.

Maffei was held on a charge of possessing a still and Galluzzi was held on two counts, possession of a still and possession of untaxed liquor.

Judge Clay also held to answer Guy Ancara and Robert Priest, arrested early this month for burglary at a Colma service station.

ROCKAWAY BEACH PEDRO VALLEY

By C. H. T.

So this is spring! The almanac tells us that spring officially began on the 21st of March. On that date, just after Dr. Lawrence Cross, director of the morning's Early Bird program over the air, announced that spring had come, we chanced to glance out into the garden. There, perched on the tip-top of a drenched and chilly bush, was a tiny hummingbird! Evidently the wee bit of feathers had read his almanac, and had ventured forth to greet the spring. Just then came another downpour of cold rain. Mr. Humming-bird deserted his wet bush, darted away, and probably sat his small self down under a dry leaf and decided that the almanac had got the wrong date! For all we know, that humming-bird is still couching under his leaf, waiting for the sun to come out. Good luck to you Mr. Hummingbird! We human beings are doing just that same thing—keeping as dry as possible, and waiting for sunshine. Here's to it when it arrives

Mrs. Jennie Bicknell drove over from Rockaway to Pedro one day last week. By this time she is an expert chauffeur, and she can make her car do just about everything a well-behaved car ought to do.

The residents of the coastside towns near here were interested over the finding of the body of a Daly City man, who slipped from the rocks near Montara while fishing, several weeks ago. The body was identified by a belt and a wallet.

That soft spot in the uper San Pedro Terrace road, has been mended and filled in by George Olmo and a neighbor, or two. It did surely need all the fixing that anybody could give it.

The Fred Bohrs came down for part of last week.

Dr. Eugene Le Fevre and family spent the weekend at their cottage on Grande avenue.

The Lawrences have put a fence around their garden to protect their picnic tables, benches, and barbecue pit from intruders.

Elmer Robinson, who has come to Pedro to be "Johnny Hills'" own jockey, hails from Kansas City. Elmer is just about as big as a minute, but he is all of seventeen years old, and he has ridden and trained horses for eleven years, starting in at the tender age of six (Like ballet dancers, jockeys do seem to begin their careers early.) Any fine morning you can see Elmer mounted on "Jimmy Hills" and going for a run. A kind Providence apparently has built Elmer on the correct lines for a jockey. "Fly-weight" they call it in pugilistic parlance, and any horse Elmer rides can be quite sure of not carrying any excess baggage After the morning exercise, "Johnny Hills" has a brisk rub-down with alcohol, and then he is snugly blanketed, while his jockey leads him up and down so as to taper off from the quick gallop.

And speaking of horses, that young colt, "Starlight," was broken to the saddle last week, with Elmer Robinson "up." Starlight took his training lesson very well indeed. And we understand he got a lump of sugar afterward.

A new roadhouse had its gala opening last Saturday and Sunday, on a local beach. The event attracted a large crowd from near and far.

The Shelter Cove store has as interesting a collection of ship pictures as is to be found anywhere hereabout. Each picture is a "portrait" of some well known boat that made coastside history in the past days. Principal one is that of the first "Lurline" of the famous fleet that sailed between Hawaii and San Francisco, enshrined in a beautiful art-glass window in full color, which was a feature of the Hawaiian building at the San Francisco Exposition.

Carl and Gladys Strutz have closed their house at Pedro and gone up into the Sierras to a "claim" reputed to be held by them. Residents here wish them the best of good fortune. We miss their cheerful lights at night, and their swift dash down-hill every morning in the green car. The Terrace colony has thinned out to a fade-away, in the past six months.

The David Clarks, the Beavers, Glovers have all departed, leaving only the Bryants and Mrs. Waldorf on the heights, with semi-occasional weekend visits by the Simmons to their cabin up still farther on the slope. If only the lovely smooth green mountain could return to its original beauty, the beauty that characterized it before the tractor cut deep gashes into its contours, and destroyed the verdure All to no purpose, it seems.

Dr. F. M. Bailey of New Mexico arrived overland last Thursday for a short visit at the home of his brother, W. E. Bailey, in Rockaway Canyon.

The newly remodelled "Breakers" bar at Rockaway Beach is estimated to be the longest in the region. It easily accommodates many customers without crowding. "The Breakers" is reputed to be one of the brightest spots along the coastside.

notwithstanding frequent statements to the contrary. I have succeeded in placing both the district attorney and the board on record publicly. That was the ultimate purpose."

The lawyer declared that Colonel Frederick Peterson of Burlingame, one time a candidate for the appointment to the county manageship and sponsor of the amendments, had been wrongfully accused of seeking to force the special election.

"Colonel Peterson has been charged with advocating such special election, yet the records and facts show conclusively to the contrary," he stated.

Bullock pointed to two accomplishments as the desired objective of amendment proponents: (1) the amendment of the charter which made apointive offices elective, and (2) ratification of the amendments.

Bullock criticized appointment of the present county executive, engineer and health director, asserting that "there are citizens in the county capable of holding these positions." He said the men now holding these positions were not residents of San Mateo County at the time of their appointment.

Any way you look at it, it now appears that a special county election is "off" for the present, at least.

SIMPLE VALUES DEALT WITH

George Meredith, the English novelist, was a man of simple tastes; and when he had a house built for himself it was comfortable and attractive, but modestly small.

One day when a young lady called to tell the novelist how much she enjoyed his books, he showed her round his little home. "Well, how do you like it?" he finally asked.

After a moment's hesitation the visitor replied, "It's lovely, Mr. Meredith; but one thing puzzles me. In your novels you always describe such wonderfully large and elaborate homes. How then does it happen that you have built such a tiny one for yourself?"

"Quite simple, my dear young lady," explained Meredith, "words are cheap—but taxes are dear!"

Charged With Writing Threatening Letters To President

Just what constitutes a threat will be tested in New York March 30, when Lester D. O'Dell, 35, goes to trial on charges of writing threatening letters to President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and other public figures. O'Dell recently gained national publicity when he sent $1 to the United States treasury, earmarked as a "payment on account to help posterity foot the debts of the new deal." Both O'Dell and his wife cheerfully admitted that letters had been written to the President. They denied, however, that the letters contained threats or in any way were improper.

LATE BUSINESS CONFERENCE MAY PROVE HELPFUL

All The Little Fellows Had Opportunity To Be Heard And Exploit Their Ideas

Business generally, as distinguished from "Big Business," had its opportunity last week to present its views as to what government could do to improve economic conditions and to counteract the present recession. The big fellows in industry and finance had had their shot at it, the important railroad people were scheduled, and it seemed only fitting that the average fellow in commercial life was also entitled to a hearing.

There was a natural difficulty in selecting a group out of the millions of dealers and manufacturers in 48 states, so the expedient was adopted of making up a list from those who had indicated sufficient interest in the situation to write to the President or to the Department of Commerce. There were thousands of such letters. Obviously, it was not practical to ask all the writers down to Washington. So there came up the problem of selection.

What the administration was looking for was representative group. Had it been attempted to sound out in advance those chosen the gathering would have been justly subject to the criticism that it was hand-picked, which would, of course, have destroyed its democratic complexion. So the names were selected more or less at random, except that the contents of the letters, where they indicated the character of the writer, was at least a partial guide. As most of these letters began with some such phrase as "I am a manufacturer of notions, employing thirty men," or "I am the owner of a store which supplies such and such a community," or "I am the president of a small corporation, dealing in," etc., there was a little information as to the status of the letter writers. No attention was paid to whether the body of the letter endorsed or assailed the government's policies. Obviously, among a thousand individuals picked in this fashion there were bound to be a few cranks, a few violent radicals, and perhaps a greater number of hide-bound reactionaries. All sorts and conditions of people write to the President of the United States, whether because of grievance, real or fancied, or because of the great American instinct that makes a lot of men believe that they can see further through a millstone than anybody else and declare themselves accordingly.

NET RESULT GOOD

However, the net result of the invitations to Washington was pretty good. The resolutions presented to the President were all sensible, in presenting a point of view, and it is not impossible that some of them contained at least the germ of an idea that will prove helpful. At all events, they are of a character that commands respect and merits consideration.

Unfortunately, the newspapers in their reports of the gathering emphasized the picturesque and the incongruous incidents, and so the country possibly got a very twisted idea of the deliberations of this business group. We cannot really complain because the members of our craft followed this procedure. A newspaper reporter invariably writes with headlines in view, and there is more excitement in the suppression of a disturber than in the straight recording of ordinary proceedings. This circumstance may be regrettable, but it is quite understandable. We are familiar with the same sort of thing even in the deliberations of Congress. We all remember that the diatribes of Huey Long, and before that the fulminations of Tom Heflin, got all sorts of prominence in the newspaper reports, even when the important legislation on which they were supposed to be speaking was barely referred to and in many cases got no mention at all.

It all depends, in estimating these things, on the point of view as to the function of the daily newspaper. Is it the paper's chief business to entertain its readers, or to instruct them? Judging from my own experience, I do not think that the circulation department of any important publication would have to think twice in answering that question.

At all events, the idea of gathering was to get an expression from a vast group of our population especially concerned with marketing and other elements of business which had indicated that it had as much right to be heard as the great capitalists and corporation heads.

FINDING THE SOLUTION

Naturally, pretty much every group looks at the problem of improving business from its own point of view, and that point of view, in the majority of cases, has a basis of probability in accomplishing the result. There is no doubt, for example, that universal high wages would, by refreshing and enhancing the public purchasing power, give a great stimulus to business. On the other hand, the people who make and sell things put their problems first. They want the market established so as to be assured of high profits, as a precedent to high wages. The bankers want to feel certain that the enterprises they are called upon to finance will be successful before they let out any money. All of these things are desirable, of course, but it is something new in our economic history for people to demand a governmental guarantee on their investments.

Successful men are rather proud of the chances they have taken to arrive. It is doubtful if any American fortune has had its foundation on such a principle. Robert Fulton took a chance on the first steamboat; the Vanderbilts took a chance on railroads; Henry Ford had no guarantee on mass-production of cheap cars when he developed the Model T. Radios, telegraphs, telephones, air navigation, were all born out of the minds of men who had faith in their ideas and in themselves.

"I've finished with that girl."
"Why?"
"She asked me if I danced."
"What's so insulting about that?"
"I was dancing with her when she asked me."

Wages And Hours—About 20 bills for the purpose of regulating wages and hours are before the House Labor Committee. House Rules Chairman O'Connor predicts that a bill regulating wages and hours will pass the House this session. It is believed that out of the 20 measures in Committee one will be salvaged by April 1.

Aliens—The Immigration Committee has reported to the House a bill denying American citizenship to any person believing in or affiliated with an organization that advocates a change in the present form of the United States Government.

Youth—A program costing a half billion dollars for vocational guidance and employment of youths between ages of 16 and 25 is proposed by the Lundeen bill to help American youth. The bill is at present being heard in a Senate Education and Labor Subcommittee.

National Defense—After the authorization bill becomes law, the President will make final decision on speed of the expansion and rate of expenditure. It is predicted by naval officers that there will be annual naval appropriations of $750,000,000 or $200,000,000 more than the pending record breaking 1939 naval appropriation bill.

Highway Bill—Congressman Elmre H. Wene of New Jersey has introduced a bill, H. R. 9666 which would build a system of super highways that would be as permanent as the Appian Way of the Roman Empire, linking every section of America. This highway system would consist of at least four lanes of traffic in each direction, with parking shoulders, all on a reinforced base of concrete. About 25,000 miles of road would be required to link all sections of the country. These super highways would be built only as fast as necessary to keep American industry and labor operating at capacity. The cost of the highway, including over and under passes, would be about $250,000 to $300,000 per mile, or from $8,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 complete. To build this self liquidating highway would require every bit of available labor of every description for many years. About 10,000,000 tons of fabricated steel, 500,000,000 barrels of cement and more than 100,000 tractors, road building machines, and other motor equipment would be required.

WPA Projects—On the theory that home building might be encouraged if neighborhoods were put in better conditions, the WPA wants approval of numerous projects for laying out new streets and sewer installations.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

"They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, March 27, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Reality." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Phil. 4: 8).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The conceptions of mortal, erring thought must give way to the ideal of all that is perfect and eternal" (p. 260).

JUNIOR COLLEGE ACTIVITIES TAKE VARIOUS FORMS

Newsy Notes of Special Interest To Students And Faculty Alike

From China, the Phillipines, Nicaragua, Cochabamba, Hawaii, the New England, Middle Western, and far Western states have come students to the San Mateo Junior College, office records show. Oregon leads the out-of-California states with 16 students enrolled.

The Junior College tracksters go to Sacramento next Wednesday, March 30, for a night track meet. The Mateans will be facing a powerful squad at the capitol city Jaysee. Last Saturday the Mateans defeated San Francisco Jaysee 94-27, taking 13 first places to one for the city team. A wet day hindered good marks.

Tennis players have hit their stride at the college in the few good days afforded them and have scored wins over St. Mary's varsity and a Chinese team from San Francisco, as well as defeating several high school teams.

The College of the Pacific will entertain the Jaysee students, this Friday, by presenting its drama students in "Scenes From the Life of Abraham Lincoln." The Pacific players are visiting different junior colleges and use a trailer to carry their scenery.

The Junior College will send coed representatives to Chico State College, April 1 and 2, to attend a girls conference to discuss coed campus programs. A ball, banquet and opera will afford social activities for the conference.

This Friday evening the college will have a Jaysee Night at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, with Joe Sanders and his orchestra playing for the dancing.

Swimmers are now practicing regularly and will hold their first water meet, March 30, against the Stanford frosh in the Stanford pool.

ENGLISH CHANNEL TUNNEL PROPOSED

It was Napoleon Bonaparte, who first suggseted a tunnel under the English Channel. It was before the Battle of Waterloo, of course, and it is related that a Paris engineer actually prepared rough plans of the scheme. Then followed the great general's defeat and the subject was not mentioned again for 30 years.

In 1834 another French engineer suggested that there should be a submerged archway, a train ferry and finally a regular tunnel under the English Channel, and he, too, had a lot of plans drawn up. But this idea was also shelved, for Queen Victoria and Napoleon didn't think much of the idea.

From that time until the present day there have been many suggestions for this marvelous tunnel, and it is now estimated that the work would cost over 30,000,000 pounds and occupy more than five years. The whole tunnel would have to be some 36 miles in length, the undersea section being 24 miles, and the journey to France from the English coast would take one hour.

Perhaps one of these days we shall see this amazing engineering feat performed.

STUFFED SHIRT IN POLITICS

RICHARD ALLAN

(Drawn by Frances Montgomery)

Candidate for county attorney, Richard Allan is well on his way to victory through the unwitting aid of a house maid in his home who has all the "dope" on the big shot politicians in the town. Though an egotistical bag of wind, he is very apt to succeed in his political ambitions despite himself. This all occurs in "Me Third," the hilarious comedy now playing at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco.

The play is by Mary Coyle Chase, a Denver newspaper woman, and was produced in New York by Brock Pemberton. It is nightly drawing capacity audiences to the Alcazar and has been pronounced one of the cleverest laugh producers ever staged in San Francisco. It will have a limited run only.

Open Letter To Fire Commissioners Of Brisbane

There are a number of property owners and taxpayers in Brisbane who seem to object to a tax rate of $1.33 per hundred for a volunteer fire department. Now we know that the larger cities have more to draw from than we do here, yet they pay salaries for full time men and still keep their rates below $.40 per hundred.

Now in regard to this new fire truck which it is rumored the honorable board of fire commissioners has ordered. According to the report the payments are to be spread over a period of five years, which is all well and good except for an opinion rendered by the district attorney of San Mateo County.

May I quote: "No board of fire commissioners shall enter into a contract obligating said district for more than the period of one year, which constitutes a fiscal year, namely, the time wherein a budget submitted by the district is approved and the tax rate is determined; July 1 to June 30."
